NOTICE

For the past several years the city has been very lenient in the collection of taxes, business license, water bills and other obligations due them. By the pursuit of this policy there is at present quite an accumulation of past due obligations, which collected would serve to relieve the depressed condition of the city's finances.

We are unable to see where it is right and proper for the great majority of the citizens to pay their obligations promptly while others are permitted to carry past due balances almost indefinitely.

We are discontinuing the policy, now "AT PRESENT" and are notifying the officials at the city hall to carry out strictly the requirements relating to the collection of taxes, water, business license, paying and other obligations and we are expecting these officials to adhere strictly to the rules and regulations governing same.

If you should be indebted to the city, to save yourself all the embarrassment, we are asking that you call at city office at once and pay what you may be due.

If you should find you need not blame those responsible for collection for any embarrassment that you may suffer, as the above is sufficient and final notice.

THAT CITY OF STATESBORO, Signed: R. L. CONE, Mayor, LANNIE F. SIMMONS, J. F. EVERETT, GLENN S. JENNINGS, J. GILBERT CONE, H. F. HOOK, Councilmen.

NUMBER 19

Tobacco Quota Cards Ready Next Week

John Duncan, in charge of the Triple-A program in Bulloch county, announced that the quota marketing cards for flue-cured tobacco for 1940-41 will be ready for distribution the latter part of next week.

Bulloch county voted overwhelmingly Saturday for marketing quotas.

According to Mr. Duncan, a tobacco grower who did not over-plant his allotment may sell every pound of tobacco made on his allotted acre penalty free.

This is the first year that marketing quotas have been on an acreage basis. In 1938 the grower was restricted to a fixed number of pounds that might sell, regardless of what he made. This year he can sell all he makes on an allotted acreage. In 1939 there were no marketing quotas.

The 1940-41 quota marketing card carries the following statement: "The undersigned operator, do solemnly declare and agree that the tobacco produced on the farm for which the card is issued, is for which the card is issued. I understand that if tobacco from any other farm is marketed under this card, I will be liable for the amount of such tobacco."

The allotment for this farm was produced will be reduced in the next year in an amount equivalent to the amount of such tobacco.

At the time the card is issued to the grower, he must sign a receipt for the card carrying the date and warehouse operator certifies that the tobacco covered by this memorandum is tobacco produced on the farm for which the marketing card is issued.

The tobacco buyer tears off one half of the ticket and shows the pounds and name of the operator. The other half of the ticket shows pounds of copy of the ticket. The warehouse operator signs the grower's copy and at the end of the season all of the grower's copies are turned in at the county office.

25 BOYS TO RECEIVE NYA TRAINING

Twenty-five boys from this area will be given a chance to earn a living while they receive practical vocational work experience at the National Youth Administration's summer school at West Georgia college in Carrollton, which was announced today.

During a two-week study open to the boys to be selected for the program, they will receive instruction in vocational agriculture, carpentry and cabinet work, and photography. In addition to this work experience and related instruction, youths are allowed to take practical academic courses in the college, although no college credit can be given the NYA youths on this out-of-school work program.

Boys and girls on this project earn their subsistence and $10.00 each per month in cash. The usual period of enrollment is one year. Only high school graduates are eligible for assignment to the project.

West Georgia college, although youths who have not completed high school or grammar school may attend other of the program than can be assigned. A youth between the ages of 18 and 24, inclusive, is eligible for selection if it is in need of employment, work experience and training.

All applications for NYA projects in this area are handled by William B. Dell, NYA area supervisor in Statesboro. Although there are many youths eligible for the program than can be assigned, the National Youth Administration keeps its rolls constantly open to the most deserving youths who may be selected for the projects, regardless of when they apply.

400 STUDENTS REGISTER FOR SECOND SESSION

Based on preliminary figures, there are close to 400 students registered for the second session of the Georgia Teachers college summer school.

This Week's Sentence Sermon

The drama is not a mere copy of nature, not a fastidious, it is the free-running hand of genius, under the impression of its liveliest wit or most passionate impulse, a thousand times adorning or feeling all as it goes; and you must read it, as the healthy instinct of audiences must always do, if the critics will let them alone, with a grain of allowance, and a tendency to go away with as much of it for use as is necessary, and the rest for the luxury of laughter, pity, or poetical admiration.—Laird Hunt.

DISPEL THIS FEAR

A FRIGHTENED person is to be pitied, and there are a number of people in Statesboro who are now experiencing fear. The thing of which they are afraid is something they are unable to see or put their finger on. It is something intangible—but they know it is there and are frightened, and nothing so demoralizes the soul as fear.

There is in Statesboro a lady who, until three weeks ago, ran a little hot dog stand at which she sold candy, cold drinks, cigarettes and other such items. She and her husband used the same building for a home. All the neighbors came to her to buy hot dogs and cold drinks. She sold candy to the kids. Her place was a gathering place for the neighbors.

The lady doesn't run the little store any more. About three weeks ago while she was washing dishes she had a hemorrhage. Tuberculosis, said the doctor and now all her neighbors know fear.

A family in Portal is scared. For five years a colored girl cooked, washed dishes, cleaned, and was in the home daily of this family. Recently, the girl seemed unwell, so the lady of the house had her examined at one of the health clinics held periodically at Portal. She had her examined for typhoid, tuberculosis and syphilis. The doctor discovered that she had syphilis in its advanced stages and there is no chance of her recovering. And now the lady with whom this syphilitic woman had been working knows fear and the members of her family are frightened.

There was a Tuberculosis Clinic held in Statesboro last Thursday. Eighty-four citizens of Bulloch County were examined, x-rayed or fluoroscoped. Five new and advanced cases of T. B. were discovered.

There is on the ordinance books of the City of Statesboro an ordinance which provides for the examination of "food handlers." Including cooks, maids, part-time cooks, soda fountain men, colored help, waiters, and all others who, in any way, handle the food we eat. In the event the "food handler" is found to be healthy and free of all communicable diseases a certificate to that effect is issued which may be shown to his employer.

This is a health measure and an important one if we are to remain a healthy community and become free of the fear in the minds of those who bought hot dogs and candy from the lady with T. B. But the sad thing about the health measure is that it is not being enforced, so in effect, we might just as well not have the ordinance.

The County Health Department is trying its utmost to improve the health of the county and is doing a good job at it.

But there is just as definite a need for a health protection in Statesboro as in the county. And without adequate personnel. All the ordinances passed are to no avail.

At present there is an opportunity for the City of Statesboro to obtain the services of a health engineer for two months at absolutely no cost. He is a graduate of Georgia Tech and is in the employ of the State and they want to give him two months of field work. If the City should act promptly they may be able to secure this man.

In the two months he would be here he could work with the City Engineer and the County Health Engineer and carry on the work begun to improve the city's health. Work, including the inspection of food handlers, the milk ordinance, typhus control, garbage disposal and other health measures.

And it is hoped that after the two months, the City will realize the indispensability of such a man and will make provision to keep him.

Then and only then will we be able to rid the people of the fear that grips them when they see a person who has been cooking for them have a hemorrhage, and know that here is T. B.

FREEZE THEM OUT

AUGUST 8 WILL see the Tobacco Market in full swing. It will also see the streets of Statesboro filled with fly-by-night salesmen offering fly-by-night merchandise at fly-by-night prices. They will be knocking on your door and ringing your door bells and sticking feet in screen doors. Men will have used cars parked on the street for sale at "bargain prices". There will be professional beggars and pan-handlers. They will be circulating on the sidewalks, and out our business doors and at the tobacco warehouses where the crowds will be.

And with their going they will leave a stink with no recourse on the part of those who listened to their smooth talk and "bit" on their bargain offerings.

Now there is an ordinance written especially for this type of fly-by-night business carried on by traveling merchants, if they can be called merchants. It is your duty when one approaches you to report him to the police. You are not playing fair with the community in which you live and earn your living if you buy or donate to this class of operator. He comes unknown from unknown places, offering unknown wares and with your money vanishes to unknown parts.

When you have buying to do, do it with someone you know, who handles merchandise you can depend on.

Co-operate with your police and your business men and report these parasites. With this co-operation we can freeze them out and make our town safe against such "merchants."

UNION BAG IN SAVANNAH SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

During the past several weeks a number of paper concerns have been indicted and this number was the Union Paper Bag Company at points other than Savannah.

We think there is ample material for a thorough investigation of the Savannah plant of the Union Bag Company.

The price being paid for pulp wood should be especially looked into. The poor devil doing the cutting and hauling is working his daylight out in order to try and make a living, but even that he is not making the grade.

We have been told that not a single finance company will finance the paper for a man that is going to use his truck to haul pulp wood with. They know that the poor devil cannot make the payments at the prices being paid for pulp wood.

We have been told that certain individuals in Savannah gets much more out of every unit of pulp wood than the poor devil does that cuts it and hauls it to town.

Then we have been told that one of the officials of the company have a gasoline filling station and it is necessary for you to patronize him in order to get into the yards to unload your trucks.

All of this is hearsay, but we think there is sufficient grounds for the United States Government to appoint a special committee to look into the affairs of the Union Bag Company, of Savannah. They are making enormous profits and our people are selling their very souls to this foreign corporation in order to try and make a living.

It's the rottenest thing this side of hell, and should be investigated.

Our people will live to regret the day that we ever had a paper plant located near us, unless something is done to get a fair and square deal for our people.

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER THIS WEEK ON: THURSDAY (TODAY), JULY 25, WILL BE CLEAR AND PLEASANT WEATHER.

FRIDAY, JULY 26, WILL BE CLEAR AND PLEASANT. SATURDAY, JULY 27, WILL BE CLEAR AND PLEASANT. SUNDAY, JULY 28, WILL BE HOT, CLEAR AND SULTRY. MONDAY, JULY 29, WILL BE CLEAR, HOT AND SULTRY. TUESDAY, JULY 30, WILL BE THUNDERSTORMS. WEDNESDAY, JULY 31, WILL BE THUNDERSTORMS.

IT SEEMS AS THOUGH THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION OF Roosevelt and Wallace pleased the majority of the people in Statesboro and Bulloch county. There were lots of sleep-eyed people walking around early Friday morning. The majority of them had been sitting up the night before listening to the democratic national convention.

WE WONDER HOW MANY of you read the editorial in the Savannah Morning News Thursday, July 18? They believe that the rejection of the Democratic ticket will lead this country into ruin. The Morning News in this editorial went overboard for the Republicans and stated that they hoped that Willie would be elected president of the United States. Now the Morning News is a big newspaper with plenty of money back of it, and they have a perfect right to express their own views but we think that they should sit down and have another thought about our Democratic party and what it has meant to the people in this section and to the people even in the city of Savannah. The Morning News is off on the wrong track again with their political viewpoints. This is the first time they have gone Republican . . .

THOSE OF YOU WHO HAVE not seen the electric flykiller down at Cliff Bradley's feed store should go down and take a look. It represents nearly a million money sent out of the state as the entire value of all sorts of products of all sorts. We literally burn our wealth, and have nothing to show for it but the recollection of a good time.

WE ARE NOT ONE of those who believe that the bottom is going to fall out of the tobacco market. We believe that the farmers will get a good price for their tobacco, and everything will be all right.

THE MAN OF THE WEEK

More than 1,500 men, women and children in Statesboro and Bulloch county received, since 1934, $330,000 that they might never have received due principally to the untiring effort and diligence of one man, working together with a small group of other Bulloch countians.

When the Bank of Statesboro closed and the people of this section were becoming reconciled to their loss a group of men were working to save something from the county's once largest bank. This group of men, Fred T. Lanier, J. Dan Lanier and Dr. R. J. Kennedy, named W. J. Rackley as president of what was to become the Bulloch Mortgage Loan company, liquidating agency for the assets of the closed bank.

Since April, 1934, Mr. Rackley, our Man of the Week, has exerted his every effort and given a great part of his time to the orderly liquidation of that bank, and in 1938 he, with the members of the board of directors of the Bulloch Mortgage Loan company, saw every depositor paid 100 per cent. the realization of a consuming interest for over four years.

W. J. Rackley was born in Burke county on Nov. 12, 1871. He married Miss Susie Strange in 1895. There are six children, Rupert Rackley, of Miami; Alma Rackley (Mrs. J. D. McClain, of Pelham); Ethel Rackley (Mrs. Harold Averitt, of Miller); Ernest Rackley, of Statesboro; Bascom E. Rackley, of Jacksonville; and Eunice Rackley (Mrs. Fred T. Bland), of Statesboro. There are ten grandchildren.

Dear Mr. Coleman:
Our attention has been called to an article in The Herald of July 4, 1940, under the subject "Georgia's Wasting Wealth," in which it is stated that the Hon. Byron Dyer, county agent, seeks to accuse the oil business of being economically responsible for poverty in the State of Georgia. Apparently Mr. Dyer's statements have emanated from assumptions made without a thorough knowledge of the facts. As a matter of fact, the gasoline tax represents one-third of the retail cost of gasoline so that, based on a gasoline tax collection of $20,319,239, the retail price would be $60,638,478 instead of $50,748,097. It is also apparent that the author of the article did not know that the actual price of gasoline at the refinery (and we refer to 72-74 ASTM Octane gasoline) is 4.75 to 5.25 cents per gallon and that the balance making up the retail price of gasoline consists of freight, handling,

Truck buyers are careful buyers—they thoroughly analyze and compare all types of trucking equipment—they want to make certain that they'll get the make and type of truck best suited to their business requirements.

It is a significant fact that more truck users choose Chevrolet than any other make of truck . . . because Chevrolet trucks could not have established their record of leadership in 1940 and maintained it for six out of the last eight years had it not been that Chevrolet trucks deliver more dollar-for-dollar value than any other make.

All models and types of Chevrolet trucks may still be purchased at today's low price levels, so it would be wise to consider replacing some of your trucking equipment with new Chevrolets now.

merchandising taxes, and other selling expenses, the greater portion of which, or nearly all of which, stays right here in the state of Georgia. According to United States government statistics, 12 per cent. of the people employed in the state of Georgia full time are employed in the petroleum industry and, together with its allied industries, the oil business gives employment to over 17 per cent. of the people employed full time in Georgia and pays over 20 per cent. of the payroll.

Please be assured that we have no other motive in writing this letter than to correct an erroneous impression and have no personal feeling in the matter whatsoever. It is not unusual for people with good intentions to make statements based on assumption rather than upon fact and we know just as well as you do that the author of this statement in your paper of July 4 was probably actuated by the best of intentions; he just didn't know.

We are pleased to attach copy of speech which was given at our district meeting on the subject, "What the Petroleum Industry Means to Georgia." We shall appreciate it very much if you will give this equal prominent to that given the previous statement in your issue of July 4 and we believe that you will agree with us that a direct, though probably unintentional, injustice has been done to a helpful industry and to a large group of people who are doing a great job in helping to build Georgia and to add to the needs of those who are fortunate enough to live in this grand old state.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
N. W. PRINTUP.

What the Petroleum Industry Means to Georgia
Economic and social benefits over a wide scale are being afforded to the people of Georgia by the petroleum industry. By providing inexpensive gasoline and lubricants it has assisted materially in the remarkable development of highway transportation in this state. It spends millions of dollars each year in research to develop new methods that will reduce the cost of products and increase their usefulness to the consuming public. The industry constantly strives to extend its service facilities to the public.

This aggressiveness of the industry has energized the social and economic life of this state. By bending its efforts to lower the cost of gasoline to the public, the industry has stimulated wide ownership of automobiles. Twenty years ago, when gasoline cost 30 cents or more a gallon, expensive cars were the only means of transportation. Today the automobile is largely a toy of the rich. But through improved production and refining methods gasoline prices have been reduced until they are now, exclusive of taxes, about half of what they were two decades ago. This trend towards lower gasoline prices has made it possible for more than 200,000 additional Georgia families with moderate incomes to enjoy the benefits of automobile ownership. Today two out of every three white families in this state own motor vehicles, despite the fact that the income average is less than $20 a week.

More than $188,000,000 in gasoline taxes have been paid to the motorists of Georgia. These millions of dollars have put this state out of the mud, thereby enabling it to keep abreast of the state of the nation in roads, thanks to the millions of dollars generated by the products of the petroleum industry. About 50 per cent. of the state highway system is surfaced. We have thousands of miles of good roads, ranging into every section of the state, which have been improved with the funds provided from gasoline taxes. If the state had not diverted many millions of dollars of automotive taxes to non-highway purposes, our present state highway system could have been completed.

The aggressiveness of the petroleum industry in supplying commodities to meet the needs of higher standards of living has stimulated business materially in this state. Something more than one-seventh of the total retail business of the state is generated by highway transportation. Our improved highways, made possible by gasoline and other taxes paid by motorists, are bringing millions of dollars of tourist trade into the state each year. Trade helps our hotels and merchants, and stimulates business in the state generally.

Highway transportation, whose remarkable expansion in this state rests firmly upon the foundation of the contributions of the petroleum industry, has had an incalculable share in the development of today's living pattern. Simply and effectively it has helped to erase century-old boundaries, destroying much of the provincialism in America and opening the farm-er's traditional isolation.

The hundreds of thousands of service stations and other motor-fuel outlets that dot America's highways make obvious the connection between the petroleum industry and the motor vehicle. Only a little less apparent are the daily uses of the other most important petroleum products—kerosene, fuel oil, lubricants, and asphalt. Kerosene, earliest major petroleum product, originally was most important as an illuminant. In isolation, the automobile was largely a toy of the rich. A whole new science of industrial lubrication has been developed, and the lubrication engineer today is an essential specialist. Asphalt and road oils are used in paving and treating thousands of miles of improved highway and nearly all city streets. Beyond these more or less obvious uses of the major petroleum products, complex modern life demands petroleum in many other forms, and chiefly as bases of important manufactured products of other industries. Paints, solvents, varnishes, anti-freezes, waxes, polishes, cosmetics, medicines, chewing gum, plastics, synthetic rubber—all these and hundreds of other products partly or wholly are being made from petroleum. Petroleum research daily is reporting new possibilities of petroleum as a resource produce equal to coal in the extent of its possible derivatives. Technologists predict that the petroleum industry, within a reasonably short time, may become in part, even largely a gigantic chemical industry supplying a host of commodities not obtained from other sources. They visualize the production of explosives, paper, textiles, detergents, even food—from petroleum. The petroleum industry has created jobs on a wide scale. Over one million people are employed by the petroleum industry itself. In Georgia the oil business gives employment to 12 per cent. of the full time employed, and together with our allied industries pays over 20 per cent. of the payroll. Several million persons are employed in the field of highway transportation. Besides creating jobs, the petroleum industry has played an important role in increasing wages and reducing hours of labor in factories throughout the United States. The industry has developed highly efficient, inexpensive lubricants which have lowered immensely production costs. In fact, the highly efficient machinery one sees everywhere depends upon petroleum lubricants for smooth and economical operations. Extensive use of machinery has enabled manufacturers to increase wages, cut down hours of labor and at the same time lower costs of products to the public. What does the petroleum industry mean to the people of Georgia? That is a big question, so far as the benefits that spring from the industry. The industry means immense tax revenue to build roads, increased business jobs and a better state in which to live. Last, but not least, the industry means millions of hours of human happiness each year to the people of this state. The petroleum industry adds immeasurably to the sum of human happiness in thousands of ways. Life is broader, fuller, because of petroleum. The oil industry gives full measure of value to the people of Georgia.

Visitor Complimented At Afternoon Party

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. S. Hanner entertained with three tables of bridge, complimenting Mrs. J. B. Downs, of Cordele, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. L. Barnes. Summer flowers, with gladioli and shasta daisies predominating, were placed in the rooms where the guests were assembled.

Mrs. J. G. Moore, with high score was awarded a fustoria vase. Mrs. Fred Smith, winning cut, was given a vase and mirror combination novelty. Mrs. Hanner presented her guest of honor with a bronze pansy bowl.

The guests were served a salad course, a sweet course and an ice drink.

Miss Mary Sue Atkins Hostess to Evening Bridge Club

Miss Mary Sue Atkins was a charming hostess Wednesday evening as she entertained her bridge club at her home on North Main street. A variety of summer flowers were used to decorate the rooms where the tables were placed.

Charlie Joe Matthews, with top score for the men, was given a linen handkerchief. Miss Bobbie Smith, with ladies' high, received a linen guest towel. Winning cut, Chatham Alderman received a deck of cards.

The guests were served fancy sandwiches, macaroni and a beverage.

Those playing were Fay Foy and Jake Smith, Joe and Kennedy, of Savannah, and Charles Olliff, Caroline Mundy and Bob Morris. Bobbie Smith and Chatham Alderman, Gladys Thayer and Frank Hook. Mary Sue Atkins and Charlie Joe Matthews.

Mrs. Donaldson Hostess At Luncheon Friday

Mrs. Robert Donaldson was hostess Friday at a luncheon at her home on Savannah avenue. The original place cards featured the New England states, the goal of two of her luncheon guests, Miss Dorothy Brannen and Miss Brooks Grimes. Other luncheon guests were Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Mrs. Sam Franklin, Mrs. Howell Sewell, Mrs. Frank Simmons and Mrs. George Johnston.

Bicycle Party

On Monday evening Billy Brakes introduced a social innovation when he entertained with a bicycle party at his home on North Main street. The bicyclists arrived at his home, went for a ride and during the intermission were served punch by Billy's mother, Mrs. Lewis Atkins. Later in the evening after another bicycle trip, they were served ice cream and crackers.

Bridge Party for Visitor

On Friday afternoon Mrs. E. Barnes was hostess at a second small bridge party complimenting her sister, Mrs. J. B. Downs, of Cordele. Cut flowers in bright summer hues were used to decorate the tables.

Mrs. O. F. Whitman, for high score, was given a fustoria combination. Mrs. H. R. Christian, for given towels for low, Mrs. Sidney Lanier, winning cut, received tally cards and score pads.

The hostess served a salad course and an ice drink. Guests were invited for three tables.

Mrs. J. W. Pate, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, left Sunday for a visit to her sons at Monticello, Fla., before going on to her home in Willard, N. C.

All's Fair ...

We just want to remind our travelers that we don't want them to forget to come back home now let attractions elsewhere lure them away from the good old home town. For instance, there's Lillian Brannen who says she's found her calling. Since a visit to Williamsburg, Va., Lily has aspirations to be a hostess in one of these old mansions that has had its face lifted. Since seeing lovely ladies in hoop skirts and crinoline, powdered hair and lace mitts courtesying gracefully and exuding Southern charm she admits a desire to get a position like that. Go to it, Lillian, we're for you.

This story has pathos, yet exemplifies a spirit our present generation can use a lot of. Genial, lovable Jim Allen, Brannen, who for weeks has been suffering from the effects of a stroke, was listening to the broadcast of the democratic convention. In the heat of the discussion and roses predominating were used throughout the home. Mrs. Everett Williams, with high score, received an evening bag. For second high, Mrs. Bernard McDougall was awarded lingerie. Mrs. Walter Aldred, winning cut, was given costume jewelry.

The hostess served fancy sandwiches, cheese straws, lady fingers and Coca-Cola.

Others playing were Misses Elizabeth Sorrier, Caroline Mundy, Brooks Grimes, Dorothy Brannen, Miss Dorothy Brannen and Miss Brooks Grimes. Other luncheon guests were Mrs. Waldo Floyd, Mrs. Sam Franklin, Mrs. Howell Sewell, Mrs. Frank Simmons and Mrs. George Johnston.

Watermelon Cutting

On Wednesday evening Bobby Smith entertained a few of his friends with a watermelon cutting at his home on South Main street.

His guests were June and Ann Attaway, Barbara Franklin, Helen Johnson, Dorothy Ann Kennedy, John Groover, Ernest Brannen, James Donaldson and Dick Brannen.

Cookies were served along with the watermelon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Everett and daughter, of Columbia, S. C., arrived Sunday to visit relatives here and to attend the Everett reunion near Metter Sunday.

Rumors of a fashionable church wedding are getting around to Jane. Shades of white satin and orange blossom are astir once more and we're wondering if the petite blue-eyed dimpled, brown-haired maid will use her mother's wedding gown of twenty-four years ago. We remember how beautiful the church was on that occasion and how that bride of two decades ago was a favorite in her set, as is her daughter now. The prospective groom is a local boy and well-liked here.

And we understand that very soon another local girl will speak her vows at a home wedding and the groom-lect is from a nearby town.

"This place has cleaned up and its operation now is O.K."

This little fragment, torn at random from one of our investigators' daily reports, may be just a scrap of paper—but to the citizens of Georgia.

It simply means that the program of the Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee of Georgia is accomplishing its objective—"cleaning up or closing up" these few retail beer outlets that operate in a manner inimical to public welfare and the future of an important Georgia industry.

Sixty-five retail outlets, out of 157 warned by our Committee, have eliminated the illegal and unwholesome conditions that made them community nuisances. We're for these and other law-abiding retailers one hundred per cent.

Thirty-three retailers did not see fit to regard our "clean up or close up" program seriously. Their licenses have been revoked.

TRY SOME UNUSUAL VEGETABLES

When the vegetable dish is a surprise, the entire meal seems more appetizing. And there are plenty of possibilities for the cook who likes to experiment with an unusual vegetable or to try a new way of cooking a familiar vegetable.

A trip through any city market will show you how many unusual vegetables are in season. Eggplant attracts the eye with its sleek purple curves. Swiss chard stands out among other leafy vegetables because of its thick, rich green leaves and white stalks. Kohlrabi, an above-the-ground turnip with leaves sprouting out like the quills of a porcupine, always draws questions from the uninitiated. So do the fat pods of okra that look like stubby green pencils. Garden soybeans, covered with a velvety fuzz, are among the late-coming to the list of green vegetables.

Then there are tricks to try in cooking some of the every-day vegetables, such as cucumbers, radishes, green onions and celery cabbage. They seem very different when they step out of their role as salad vegetables.

Down south where much of the eggplant is grown, this vegetable is cooked at least half a dozen different ways. For a real specialty, scallop the eggplant with tomatoes, and add green pepper and onion for extra flavor.

Select an eggplant that is firm and heavy, with a uniform dark color and no blemishes. It should weigh about two pounds to serve six to eight persons. Pare off the skin, and cut the vegetable in small even pieces. Then melt two tablespoons of fat in a skillet, add a chopped green pepper and small onion, and cook for a few minutes. Next add the eggplant, a quart of canned tomatoes or chopped raw tomatoes, salt and pepper, and cook for ten minutes. Place the mixture in a shallow greased baking dish. Mix about one cup of fine bread crumbs with a little melted fat and sprinkle over the eggplant. Bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes, or until the eggplant is tender and the crumbs are browned.

Broiled eggplant is also good, especially if you spread a little oil on the top of each slice just before it is done. And the classic quick method is to fry eggplant in deep or shallow fat after it is dipped in flour, egg and crumbs, or in a thin batter.

Swiss chard is really two vegetables in one. Strip off the green leaves to cook like spinach. But don't throw away the white stalks. Cut them into thin pieces and cook them like celery for about 20 minutes in boiling water. Then add the leaves and cook about 10 minutes longer. Remove the stalks, salted water to keep the chard from turning an unpleasant dark color. Season just before serving with fat, salt, pepper and a little vinegar or lemon juice.

Prepare kohlrabi exactly as you would a turnip. Trim off the leaves, pare and slice it crosswise. Cook in lightly salted boiling water for about 20 minutes. Drain and season with melted butter or cream, and salt and pepper to taste.

Okra appears as gumbo in soups and stews down New Orleans way, because it contains a thick, jelly-like substance that is ideal for thickening these dishes. When served as a vegetable alone, most cooks do away with some of this "jelly" by frying the okra, or by cooking it with tomatoes. Select young okra, with pods measuring from 2 to 4 inches in length. Wash them carefully because the dirt sticks to the outside, dry, and cut crosswise in pieces about one-half inch thick. Heat fat in a frying pan, and cook the okra with the stems for about ten minutes, stirring frequently. Then remove the cover and continue to cook until the okra is tender and lightly browned.

The garden varieties of soybeans are truly a surprise vegetable, with their green color and nutty flavor. Select beans that are nearly full size, but still under-ripe. To make the soybeans easy to shell, first heat them in the pods for 3 to 5 minutes in boiling water. Drain the beans and, as soon as they are cool enough to handle, you can pop the beans right out of the pods. Then cook the shelled beans in lightly salted water until they are just tender, usually from 15 to 20 minutes.

EDITORS TO FROLIC AT SEASHORE HOTEL

Editors of the state will take a well-earned vacation Aug. 22-24 when the fifty-fourth convention of the Georgia Press association is held at Macon and Savannah.

Starting out in Macon Thursday morning, Aug. 22, Thursday and Friday morning will be devoted to business sessions in which the newspapermen will discuss mutual problems, advertising, circulation, news and editorial departments. On Friday noon the editorial party will go by train to Savannah for a week-end of entertainment.

The publishers will be guests of W. T. Anderson and the Macon News and Telegraph, and the Macon Chamber of Commerce and Mercer university, during their stay in the central Georgia city. On Friday evening the Savannah Morning News and Evening Press will give the editors a banquet at the DeSoto hotel in Savannah, and Saturday evening the DeSoto hotel-club will entertain the party at their new club on the ocean.

AUGUSTA HERALD SUPPORTS ROBERTS

AUGUSTA, Ga.—The Augusta Herald last week joined the growing list of Georgia newspapers which have editorially endorsed Commissioner of Agriculture Columbus Roberts for governor.

"If our threatened national emergency becomes an actual emergency, then Georgia is going to need a man of rugged, honest, a man of business training," the Herald said. "In looking over the list of candidates we are especially glad to see that Mr. Columbus Roberts, the present commissioner of agriculture, stands out head and shoulders above all the others."

Answers

1. c. getting as close as possible to the right curb or edge of the road. This allows drivers coming behind you to know what you intend to do, and lets them pass on your left if they intend to go straight ahead. Of course, you should give a hand signal, too.

2. b. low beam. Fog consists of tiny drops of water which act like tiny mirrors. They cannot be pierced with a beam of light; instead they throw the light right back at the driver. Therefore, the low beam which points downward should be used.

3. False. Carbon monoxide gas is odorless. You can't see it, smell it or taste it; so beware.

Agent Urges Farmers To Control Dodder In Lespedeza Fields

County Agent Byron Dyer this week termed dodder, or "love vine," as it is commonly called, as a serious menace to lespedeza and urged Bulloch county farmers to use control measures for its eradication on lespedeza planted for pasture, hay, soil improvement, and for seed.

The county agent said dodder-infested lespedeza, in either permanent or temporary pastures should be grazed close enough to consume the lovevine. One or two close grazings will usually kill out the pest, he stated.

"Dodder is more difficult to control and more injurious to lespedeza than any other weed," he explained. "Grazing lespedeza during the best method of control. It should not, however, be grazed late enough to prevent the plants from making profitable growths."

"Another control method for lespedeza planted for hay and soil improvement is to mow the plants close to the ground just before the dodder blooms and allow it to come back in the fall," he continued. "As dodder seed are carried in hay and resulting manure, mowing is necessary to prevent the seed from being carried to other fields."

Lespedeza heavily infested with dodder should not be saved for seed, he stated. It should be plowed and possibly for permanent pasture, the agent added.

and the agricultural conditions of their communities. Many farm people take advantage of the opportunity to get a vacation, too. We hope thousands of them will be with us this year.

The theme of the farm women's meeting this year is "Using Every Agency and Facility at Our Disposal to Build a Better Life." There will also be plenty of music floating around the university campus among the special features throughout the week being a singing school conducted by Miss Ella Cannon, a musical specialist of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Special emphasis will be placed on chorus work.

CANNERY AT NEVILS SWAMPED BY PRODUCE
The Nevils canning plant is over-run with business, as the farmers are making a desperate effort to save as much of their vegetables and fruits as possible. So great has been the rush until the management of the plant has been compelled to prohibit catsup making except on special days, and also to can three days a week instead of two. The third day was added to take care of the canning for the school lunch room. Tuesdays and Thursdays are the days for the public to can their fruits and vegetables and Wednesdays set aside for catsup and food for the school lunch room. All patrons are urged to co-operate with this work and meet at the plant on Wednesdays with all your surplus vegetables. The plant is now running Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. All canners are urged to operate until late hours at night in order to catch up the day's work so as to get an early start the next day. All canners are urged to have their produce at the Nevils plant not later than 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

SCOUT NEWS

Scoutmaster Roy Green and six members of Troop 40 of Statesboro Boy Scouts have returned home from Camp Strachan where they have been for the past two weeks.

Camp Strachan, located on the Vernon river east of Savannah, is the official Boy Scout camp.

At the court of honor Saturday night of last week Scouts Dan Groover, Robert Brannen, Waner Barton and Herman Jenkins were promoted from Tenderfoot to Second Class Scouts. Scout Junior Poindexter was promoted to First Class rating. Kimball Johnston had to leave camp before the court convened to receive his First Class rating.

Scoutmaster Green was awarded four merit badges in woodwork, first aid, electricity and basketry. He was also admitted into the "Order of the Arrow," a national Scouter organization. Dan Groover was awarded a merit badge in electricity.

The returned scouts report that the camp was one of the best they have attended. They participated in softball, box hockey, horseshoe pitching, ping pong, chess, checkers, motor boating, sailing and canoeing, fishing, crabbing, together with their regular scout training.

Sermon by the pastor at 8:30 o'clock p.m.

Union prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 8:30.

The pastor has been greatly encouraged at the increased congregations at the night service. Many people find it more convenient to attend the night service than in the day. The pastor thinks that such people can find no better place to spend an hour than at church on Sunday night. He hopes that all the people may form the church-going habit.

N. H. WILLIAMS, Pastor.

N. Y. A. NEWS

For the past two weeks the second group of NYA girls have been busy making quilts and chocheting. In our foods class we are planning and considering the cost of our menus.

Two of the state visitors, Miss Donehoo, from Savannah, and Miss King, from Atlanta, visited us last Wednesday night. We had a very interesting round-table discussion with them about the democratic national convention.

During our two weeks' stay here we usually have some form of entertainment. This time we have planned a picnic for Tuesday afternoon at Parrish's pond.

At our last house meeting some of the girls suggested that we have a "RAT COURT" to punish the girls that disobey the house rules. In this court we plan to carry out the same procedure as in any other court. Our first court will be held Wednesday night. We will draw twelve jurors from among our group of girls to serve at this court.

Our house council consists of: Eunice Akins, president; Euna Blackburn, vice-president; Josie
